C.N.P.M. Hospital Meeting Is Adjourned

A very disappointing turnout of only one person showed up at the annual meeting of the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital held in the Frank Community Hall last week.

Hospital Administrator Mr. V. J. Horejsl and Board members who had prepared interesting reports for persons in the hospital district were obligated to adjourn the meeting after a vote of thanks was moved by Vern Douc in appreciation of the work done by the Board members during the year.

In an interview with Hospital Administrator V. J. Horejsl, it was disclosed that the overall total expenditure of the hospital for the year 1959 was $214,419.95, which figure includes depreciation and interest on debentures.

The operating deficit for the year was $10,262.00 and the hospital, not having any unapproved costs stipulated by the Provincial Department of Public Health, this deficit will be paid by the provincial government.

The salaries for 1959 totalled $122,973.00 as compared to the sum of $110,983.00 in 1958. It is estimated that the salaries for 1960 will be approximately $135,000.00. The increase in these annual salaries will be to a 40-hour week instituted for 1960.

Improvements to grounds outside the hospital including the installation of curbs and sidewalks totalled $1,329.00.

Requisitions for 1959 were $11,565.00 covering the payment of the principal and interest for a seven-month period for 1958. There will be no requisition in 1960 as the capital payment of debentures will be assumed by the Provincial Government's Department of Public Health.

Interesting statistics at the hospital reveal that in 1959 there were 1530 admissions; 111 births, 45 deaths; 67,498 meals served as compared to 54,126 meals in 1958; there are 118,836 paid hours; 16,014 patient days as compared to 11,193 in 1958. The average staff at the hospital including part-time workers was 52 with three full-time doctors and one administrator.

Average occupancy at the hospital in 1959 was 61 per cent and it is noted that since January 1960, until the end of April that occupancy had risen to 75 per cent. Equipment purchased during the year 1959 and paid for by the provincial government, totalled $4,978 with donations of $148.50 by the Ladies Auxiliary to the hospital and $80 donated by Blairmore branch No. 7, B.E.S.L.

The equipment added included X-ray cabinets, suction machines, obstetrics table, typewriter, adding machine and other smaller items as well as a new station wagon for transporting hospital staff.

Local Boy Flying Jet Fighters

Following is an interesting letter received by The Journal from Pit. Cadet D. R. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Woods of Coleman, who will receive his "Wings" on July 29. "I graduated from Coleman High School in 1957, after which I attended the University of Alberta in Edmonton to take up engineering. While there I joined the RCAF under the regular officers' training plan. In June, 1958, I left for St. James, Quebec, where I took six weeks basic training.

While there I had the privilege of a five-day holiday in New York City. After leaving St. James I took six weeks primary flying training on Chipmunk aircraft near London, Ont., and then returned to University for my second year in engineering.

In May, 1959, I was stationed at Moose Jaw, Sask., and later transferred to Penhold, Alberta, where I took basic flying training on Harvard aircraft. On graduating in February, 1960, I was sent to advance flying school at Gimli, Man., where I am now flying T-33 jet aircraft.

When I receive my "Wings" on July 29 I will be promoted to Flying Officer and to Sabre aircraft in Europe or CF-100 interceptors in Canada.

Flying jet fighters is an experience unequalled anywhere.

Pit. Cadet D. R. Woods "The Journal and his many friends wish him every success in his chosen career."

Spectacular animated sign to advertise Canada's travel attractions on New York's Times Square has been rented by the Canadian Government Travel Bureau for a period of 13 weeks. The two-panel electronic sign, the only one of its kind in the world, measures 30 by 32 feet over-all, and is located over a building at the corner of 46th Street and Broadway.

The sign, which shows animated scenes, will feature the attractions of the National Parks of Canada and colorful events and holiday activities in all of the ten Canadian provinces. The sign will be seen during summer by millions of New Yorkers and visitors from the States and abroad. It is estimated that more than a million persons visit Times Square daily. Half of them are from the city of New York, 25 per cent from the surrounding area and the remainder from out of town.

Built in two panels the sign provides an unusual degree of flexibility. The upper panel, known as the Epok animated electronic screen display, features a unique photo-electric lighting system that enables animated scenes to be projected ed onto its 720 square foot bank of 4104 light bulbs. The bulbs are activated by photo-electric cells which, in return, are set off by light passing through a moving picture film silhouette form, depicting animated scenes of vacation activities and holiday events in each of Canada's ten provinces.

The scenes to be shown include—Calgary Stampede, Highland Games in Nova Scotia, fishing, golf and other recreations, all of which are in full view of crowds who pass through Times Square every day. On hot summer days a special advertising message will be switched on the screen inviting New Yorkers to exchange their steaming sidewalks for Canada's cool lakes and mountains. The lower panel, measuring 9 1/2 feet by 31 feet is located just below and attached to the Epok animated sign. Constructed of translucent plexiglass it is brilliantly illuminated from within by grids of fluorescent tubing. In block copy it will carry the current slogan of the Travel Bureau's advertising—"Canada The Wonderful World At Your Doorstep".

COLEMAN RODEO?

Lack of response from various Coleman organizations would seem to indicate that there will be no Coleman Rodeo held this year.

At a recent Coleman Board of Trade meeting held during the latter part of April, the secretary was instructed to write a number of Coleman organizations, asking whether or not they would be interested in sponsoring the annual Coleman Rodeo or taking part in a joint committee to run the affair.

Replies were to have been returned to the secretary by Monday, May 2nd and from the results it appears that the affair will not be held.

The executive of the Board of Trade will meet on May 17th when official declaration that the Rodeo will not be held will be made unless something exceptional turns up before the meeting.

The Canadiens won the trophy by downing the Boston Bruins' team to the score of two to one in a game that saw the young players go into 118 minutes of overtime in the sudden-death game.

With six teams in the league, Mr. Kryczka presented the three trophies, sponsored by the Robin Hood Company to three Boston Bruins players, Robert Atkinson and Jim Hardy for the 12 and under group, and to Billy Roughhead for the 10 and under league.

The most valuable player trophies sponsored for Pee Wee hockey by the Athletic Association, were then presented to Montreal Canadian player Colin Collister, Toronto Maple Leafs player, Bruce Salant, New York Rangers Richard Venier, Detroit Red Wings John Backowski and Chicago Black Hawks Barry Phillips.

ABOUT MONEY
I think it was O. O. McIntyre who used to say that a newspaper columnist could be sure of getting readers if he talked about food, love or money, not necessarily in that order. I would like to talk about money right now, because I was just handed eighty cents in American money as change.

It is a popular game these days, getting rid of American change, because everybody wants to discount it. Our dollar is worth about five cents more than the American dollar, or so we are told.

Is this good or bad?
For my money, if I may use the expression, it is far from being good. For years I have been selling a considerable amount of my writings in the United States. In the old days the cheques had extra value, but today, with the exchange and the discount knocked off, I am taking a licking.

I am not the only Canadian getting hurt by the discounted American dollar. The nation is suffering a trade revenue loss of something like $280 million a year because of it. That's more than the total value of all of our exports of nickel in 1959, plus our export of pulpwood tossed in!

It meant a loss of about $140 million to the government in taxes — taxes badly needed to pay for the many social enterprises this country has undertaken.

The fact is that further losses of this kind in tax revenue could well mean that a lot of the social welfare work paid for by the government would have to be stopped.

Whether you like them or not, Corporations pay for a huge slice of the welfare bill each year, and when they get hurt the exchequer gets hurt, too!
This money problem isn't an easy one to solve. Indeed, it is made worse when cities like Montreal and Toronto go to New York to borrow money. Some provinces — Manitoba, for example, have also contributed to the problem by borrowing in the U.S.A. Every time this is done it leads to overvaluation of the Canadian dollar. Perhaps, if all this borrowing was done in Canada, it would go a long way toward improving the situation. At least one leading industrialist, Mr. P. M. Fox, has suggested that it is one very practical way to improve the situation.

The main thing is that we should all be concerned. Two hundred and eighty million dollars a year, or more, are at stake, of which some 140 millions are a direct loss to the tax-gatherers.

And you know where they'll go to make that up!

Of Many Things
(By Ambrose Hills)

PROPAGANDA STEPPED UP

One of the first things the labor union bosses got across at the recent conference was an attack from delegates for a tremendous propaganda campaign in newspapers, radio and TV.

There is not much doubt about the form such propaganda will take. Everyone knows that the CIO officials intend to back the New Party even though it is not very likely to get anywhere in politics.

Why are they ready to spend so much money on a party which is really the old CIO in disguise and can be expected to fail, just as CIO has failed, to gain power at Ottawa?

The answer, surely, is that many of the leaders in the union movement are career socialists first and union workers next. And if they can make it almost compulsory for all union members to pay fees into the coffers of the New Party, they will have a pile of money to publish leftist propaganda.

What do I mean by "almost compulsory"? — I mean that a union member who must pay to support the New Party unless he goes to the trouble and possibly the embarrassment of "contracting out" is really being pressured. It is much like the old gag, in a meeting, where the chairman says "If there is anybody in the hall so tight with money that he is against this progressive step your executive has taken, he need only stand up and his fifty cents will be refunded!"

In this sort of left-handed way, many a rank-and-file union worker will be in the position of financing socialist ideas which he does not believe in, and undermining a system which has given him a higher standard of living than most of the world's workers. His money will be used to do to Canada what Socialism did to the UK and to Australia.

Will the followers of the Conservative, Liberal or Social Credit parties, who are also rank-and-file union members, stand still for this sort of arrangement?

Will they pay fees to pay for leftist attacks on the principles of the Social Credit, Conservative or Liberal parties? Not willingly, they won't.

There are bad times ahead for Canadian unionism and an almost certain shake-up in leadership.

Rank-and-file members have refused again and again to vote at the polls, in secret, the way their leaders have wanted them to vote; and unless the laboring man has completely lost his independence, he's going to do a lot of squawking before he shells out his money to promote principles he is dead set against.

A New Pool
Of Capital

An important new pool of capital, Canada's most obvious need, and a new complimentary opportunity for the casual or amateur investor has been opened by a Toronto investment house, Gairdner & Company Limited.

Marrying the best features of mutual funds and the older closed-end investment trusts, Gairdner has come to market with Canadian Gas and Energy Investments Limited.

Shares and debentures of the new trust have not only been priced to attract those whose savings are not large enough to permit a broad selection of holdings; they have been designed to offer unsophisticated savers a package of liquidity and opportunity seldom provided by the individual selection of securities.

The investment company's stock consists of 15 common shares for directors and 4 million voting and participating preference shares. The larger class has the usual desirable features of a common stock with the additional virtue of being cashable under most circumstances.

Nine hundred thousand of these shares are being sold to the public across Canada.

The stock will not only represent a skillfully managed interest in a broad list of Canada's steadily growing energy industries; they also carry warrants which give the owners the option of buying half as much stock again in the future at prices which may well prove to be bargains.

And, unlike the shares of mutual funds, they will be limited in number and will be listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

These trading facilities plus the company's provision for redeeming the shares for cash will provide share-holders with an unusual ability to switch their holdings to cash should they need to do so.

But the particular appeal of this investment lies in a new departure.

It represents an imaginative step for the Canadian Investment Dealer community, or at least by one unit of it — a step which may well prove to be the way to a goal which has largely eluded the financial community in Canada.

Financiers have been aware that typical Canadian families are the custodians of vastly greater sums than any group of wealthy adventurers could command. They have been alert, too, to the need for Canada, and hence the investment business, to have more of Canada's capital raised within the country, the Gordon Commission strongly urged that means be found to accomplish this. The problem has been that although Canadian savers were the right customers for Canadian capital stock and bonds, but Canadians did not buy and hold as many of these securities as the country's growth demanded.

The new kind of investment offered by Canadian Gas and Energy Investments Limited is certainly designed to have a specific appeal to these typical Canadian families.

It is a long and imaginative step in the direction of unlocking Canada's untapped capital resources.

The Horseshoe and Buffalo . . .

The horseshoe and buffalo—chosen as the trademark of the Calgary Brewing and Malting Co. Youth Serves Road Safety

An upsurge in the interest of Canadian youth in highway safety, as well as a noticeable increase in driver education in secondary and elementary schools in Canada, is reported by the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

W. Arch Bryce, the council's executive director, points to the fact that promotion of high school driver education as an extra-curricular subject is gaining impetus everywhere in the nation, as is the establishment of school safety patrols, paralleling greater concentration on safety education in the lower grades.

Teen-agers, the council advises, are becoming more and more involved in improved driving methods, chiefly through the increasingly popular Teen-age Road-o-o. At the council's annual conference in Vancouver a special "Teen-age Safe-Driving Road-o-o" demonstration will be staged on the parking lot of the British Columbia Automobile Association in which winners of the recent provincial contests will compete with officials of the provincial government and safety organizations. To add glamour to the competition, one of the drivers will be the well-known Canadian television star, Lorraine McAllister.

Following the demonstration will be a banquet honoring youth (sponsored by the Imperial Oil Co. Ltd.) at which all speaking, introductions and presiding will be handled by teen-agers.

Guests will include representatives of a variety of youth groups such as Boy Scouts, high school organizations, Hot Rodders and others, as well as delegates to the conference.

The Nurse and The Pharmacist (In Hospital)

Although she neither makes, mixes nor orders drugs, it is from the hands of the Registered Nurse that hospital patients receive the comfort and cure that comes from the pills, shots and varied chemical miracles ordered on the doctor's prescription pad.

In the course of a day a Registered Nurse handles dozens of different drugs. And almost every day she must learn to administer another new and powerful aid.

That she may learn more about the role of the man who mixes and doses out these drugs, the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses has invited Donald M. Cameron of Edmonton, executive treasurer of the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association to speak on the last morning of their 42nd annual meeting May 14 in Banff.

He will explain the 'high priest-manship' of modern medical chemistry in the hospital.

It has six important aspects — how the hospital pharmacy grew; what the hospital pharmacist does; the part he plays with other health services; his status in the hospital at present; what will likely be expected of him in the future, and his relationship with other professions both in and out of the hospital.

Red Cross Group Send Another Shipment

The Coleman Work Group of the Red Cross who meet in the basement of the Coleman Legion each Wednesday afternoon to do sewing work have during the month of March sent nine large quilts, and 20 dozen diapers to Red Cross headquarters in Calgary, as well as a Refugee box containing five small nightgowns, five pairs pants, five blouses, five skirts and five slips.

In January the group also sent out nine quilts and 20 dozen diapers. Women wishing to take part in this work will be welcomed by the group who are already doing a fine job.

Red Cross provincial headquarters in Calgary reported that a shipment of nine cases of relief supplies left Calgary on April 27th, 1960, for Marseilles, France, from where they will be distributed by the League of Red Cross Societies to emergency areas.

The shipment contained 10,392 articles made by members of Red Cross women's work groups in Alberta and included 360 22-piece layettes, 215 items of children's night wear and 45 quilts as well as other articles of miscellaneous infants' clothing.

The Coleman group also came to the assistance of the Andy Olaszewski family in Coleman who were burned out last month by providing two large quilts for the family.

The Brown family, visiting our Wabamun Power Plant, is dwarfed by the giant generators which are the newest additions to our picture of service. The Wabamun Plant is a steam power plant. 36,000,000 cubic feet of gas is burned every day to produce the steam to turn the turbines which run the generators that produce 88,000 horsepower each; or together, nearly two-thirds of the total power produced by all of our hydro-generating stations.

The Browns, on their visit to Wabamun, learned that a third generating unit which will add a further 150,000 kilowatts to the plant, will be completed in 1962. This unit will burn coal strip mined from vast coal deposits right at the plant site.

Combining thermal with hydro facilities is another example of Calgary Power's determination to provide the best possible electrical service to all of our customers in Alberta.

African Goods Display Pleasing To Many District Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Antoni Gorny of Durban, South Africa, displayed an excellent variety of African native handicraft and goods in Coleman last month. Mr. and Mrs. Gorny have been visiting with a number of their relatives in Coleman and during their stay here set up the display in Coleman where everyone was invited to visit and look over the goods.

An average of 50 persons per day called in to see the display as well as all Coleman students.

Mr. Gorny visited the schools in Coleman and gave interesting talks on the history of Africa, native life and native arts and crafts, after which question periods were held and Mr. Gorny ably answered all queries made by the students.

Three of the students — Sharon Howard, Lena Bouthillier and Edwina Stonehouse were so impressed by the studies that they personally wrote Mr. and Mrs. Gorny and thanked them for the display. Interesting to see were some of the figures of African wild animals which were carved from solid blocks of hardwood with a knife and then highly polished by knife with white bees wax. The figures featured an extremely high gloss and were of beautiful natural wood color and were made by the natives of northern Transvaal and Natal.

Also seen in the display were head and shoulder busts of natives made out of clay and sculptured by the natives which featured an almost life-like expression. These heads were made by the natives of Zululand, northern Rhodesia and Barotseland.

Colorful and well made quilts, hats and purses could be seen on the bottom row made by patients of the King George Fifth Hospital for non-European convalescents and disabled persons and in the rehabilitation centres in Durban.

A very colorful and interesting display of beads and beadwork was also included in the display which Mr. Gorny said were made by the native women all across South Africa. The numerous types of beads were made from different colored and shaped seeds of the plants, and when dried completely take on exquisite colors. The beads are then bored by the natives and threaded.

Dolls seen in the display were made by the natives in the Missions in Central and South Africa.

Modern paintings also drew much attention in the display as the paintings used were very extremely bright and contrasted on their black background. These items were made by the natives of the Belgian Congo. Thick colorful soft blankets displaying scenes of African life, added to the display and were made by the Basuto natives.

Shields made of dry skins and metal spears and wooden knives, made and used by the natives of Zululand, attracted much attention among the boys.

To show the ingenuity of the African natives shoes made from old tire treads with tops made from wild animal leather, were displayed as well as little wire dolls made from small discarded pieces of plastic insulate wire which was twisted and worked by the natives into the shapes of little people.

Ostrich egg lamps made in Cape Province, South Africa, also attracted a great deal of attention. The eggs obtained from the ostrich farms around Ootshoorn were all mounted on wooden bases and exquisitely painted with African scenes by African artists. Shades on these, which were very colorfully hand-painted were made by the natives.

Skins of zebra, springbok, blebok, wildebeest (gnu), leopard, which were tanned and made into rugs and other articles, as well as the skins of such reptiles as python, crocodiles, legem lizards made into purses were featured. Two large hippo teeth from the Luangwa Valley of Northern Rhodesia were also on display and were given to Mr. Gorny by the natives in that district. A fine display of South African spirits was also shown.

Mr. Gorny plans to set up several travel agencies in Western Canada to try to promote more travel between Canada and Africa. He is also attempting to promote more trade between the two countries.

CANADIAN BRINGS ANSWER TO BITTERNESS IN THE WORLD

Wellington, New Zealand, April 28—Chief Walking Buffalo of the Canadian Rocky Mountain Sioux stands with E. T. Tirikatene, (left) Acting Minister of Maori Affairs and Minister of Forests, on the steps of the New Zealand Parliament. Mr. Tirikatene asked Walking Buffalo to address a large crowd on Moral Re-Armament.

With the Chief is Chief David Crowchill from Sorece, Alberta, one of the delegation of 11 Canadians travelling through Australasia, Africa, and Europe. Walking Buffalo told the crowd, "I ask my colour to stand by my side with me to unite the whole of mankind. Moral Re-Armament made me put away all bitterness, pride and fear.—The choice is between Moral Re-Armament and Communism." In the past six months the 88-year old Chief has travelled over 25,000 miles to bring the ideology of Moral Re-Armament to the peoples of the world. He has been received by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany, Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus and other national leaders. One hundred million people have heard and seen him on radio and television. He goes next to Australia and Africa.
